

LUCINDA ARMSTRONG HALL

Lucinda made her professional debut in Annie in 2012 alongside Anthony Warlow and Nancye Hayes. She has since landed a rapid succession of coveted roles in musical theatre, film and television.

Lucinda's first feature film role was in Predestination alongside Ethan Hawke and Sarah Snook. She played the adorable Harriet Morgan in her next feature film, Now Add Honey, with Portia de Rossi, Ben Lawson and Lucy Fry. On television Lucinda continues to delight audiences in the recurring role of Holly Hoyland on Neighbours.

Lucinda is a performing arts scholar and has been fortunate to train with some of the best in the business at: Arclight Films, Gristmill, Gordon Frost Organisation, TML Entertainment and Fremantle Media. She loves to learn and continues to develop her skills through private coaching and practical on stage, set and screen training.

Lucinda has a number of exciting projects due for release this year.
